Obituary.

Young, infant daughter of A. G. and M. J. Gresham, died August 24, 1890.

Little Bette, so gentle and lovely, long absent from the household, and now that mother there could be no more children to know that the that took little children to his arms and blessed them when her darling home—sheltered from the earth forever.

Good kind parents, the Good Shepherd will be better care of the pet lamb than you could, with all your love and care. You miss the prattle of the little voice and the patter of little feet, no longer all day, making music to your ears, but the agonizing thought comes, that they still in death. Yet it is only for a little while the part are parted, and when you enter the happy Land you will hear the same old tones, the melodies sweet and pure, as when you were young.
